

Neuropathy in Cancer Survivorship

Opportunity for Family and Friends to Make a Difference!

Do you or a loved one suffer from chemotherapy-induced peripheral neuropathy (CIPN)? Friends, partners and family members of loved ones with CIPN are invited to participate in a research project sponsored by the National Cancer Institute.

The goal is to help researchers develop an instructional mobile app to teach friends, partners and family members some simple massage techniques to help reduce or prevent symptoms of CIPN in cancer survivors they care about.

The mobile app to be developed in this phase will be used in a future study to evaluate its impact in cancer survivors with CIPN.

Friends, partners and family members are needed now for this phase of research. Most will be take part in a one-hour focus group meeting over Zoom, to share their thoughts about the proposed instruction and how the app can be made most usable and helpful.

A few will be selected for a 90-minute one-on-one session to explore a prototype of the app, and give feedback on its usability.

You may be eligible if you are...

- A friend, partner or family member of a cancer survivor who has been diagnosed with CIPN
- Over age 18

Compensation...

- Focus group participants receive $75 for attending the one-hour meeting.
- Participants in the 90-minute one-on-one feedback sessions receive $100.

For more information...

If you are viewing this announcement online, CLICK HERE to read the study Consent Form and apply. If you are viewing a hard copy of this announcement, go to www.cipnstudy.com to see the online version and click the above link.